

SBU Online: Etiquette and Conditions of Contest

Etiquette

Online tournaments are foremost friendly events played in an atmosphere of trust.

Please greet your opponents on arrival.

Please respect the Director at all times and be aware that the Director may be particularly busy between rounds.

Please bid and play in tempo as far as possible.

Please provide via Chat to the Table a summary of your system and discards, it is not sufficient to refer the opposition to your Profile. You may complete a convention card for each partnership and note that if you do not your card will revert to SAYC and should be ignored. If you have completed a card then refer the opposition to it.

If you forget to alert a bid then click on your bid as soon as possible. This opens up a box into which you can type an explanation. This will be displayed to both of the opposition.

The oppositions' alerted bids will appear with a red outline and there maybe an accompanying explanation. If you need more information simply click the bid, or a natural bid you suspect should have been alerted', and the opposition will provide explanation. Do not ask questions via the Table. You may ask the bidder, privately via Chat, for more information, but should not consult their partner.

Please be mindful of the clock and claim as soon as you can, either as declarer or opposition, to save time.

SBU tournaments are strictly friendly events. Any rudeness at the table should be reported to the Director who may take further action.

You must not make comments to the table of any kind during bidding or play of the hand. This could be construed as passing unauthorised information.

Cheating will not be tolerated and the penalty will be a ban from the BBO platform. For Pay-Tournaments BBO will follow up any alleged cases vigorously.

If you suspect that someone is cheating convey your suspicions directly and in private to the Law & Ethics Committee or in private to the Tournament Director who will take matters forward. Unproven allegations or insinuations are corrosive to the atmosphere of online bridge and sanctions may be taken.

With discretion, breaches of etiquette should be reported to the Tournament Director.
